You can highlight the most important event or milestone in the year.

Or add some fun facts or trivia about your family.

Writing a holiday newsletter

A holiday newsletter is a great way to keep in touch with your family and friends. You can share news, milestones, and photos from the past year and share warm wishes for the new year. You can use this template to create your holiday newsletter. Start by customizing the title of your newsletter top of the page. Here are some examples of titles that you can use: "Happy Holidays & Best Wishes for the New Year", "The [Insert last name] Hol Gazette", or "The [Insert Last Name] Family in 2008".

What to write about

Consider family milestones, vacations, birthdays, hobbies, new pets, fun anecdotes, graduations, and other significant changes in your lives during the year. Think about the people who will be reading your newsletter that may not have heard from you during the year... what would you like to tell them if you could see them in person? To help you come up with ideas, go through your e-mail inbox, your family's calendar, or digital photos for inspiration. Consider writing not only about what "happened to you" during the year, but also about your feelings and thoughts about those events.

Tip: Use humor and add funny stories

Keep the newsletter casual in tone and include anecdotes and funny stories.

Happy Holidays from Our Family to Yours

that happened during the year. Laugh at yourself a bit.

How to conclude your newsletter

Finish off your newsletter by wishing your family and friends a happy holidays and a prosperous new year. After you print your newsletter (File>Print...), consider adding a hand-written message to show that you've taken the time to think specifically about the recipient.
